Investment objective

Sustainable investing is a catch-all term for investing in a way that accounts for being socially responsible and investing ethically while also seeking returns.

At PAM we use the term sustainable investing to capture the various methods of incorporating concerns around Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) issues into our investment decision making processes.

Fund manager commentary

Following a strong start to the year, equities gave back some of their gains in February. Growing uncertainty regarding US trade policy and weakening consumer sentiment contributed to the S&P 500 falling 1.3% in US Dollars last month. Meanwhile, the Dollar was also under pressure as the market reassessed the probability of further rate cuts from the Federal Reserve.

Looking outside of the US we saw European and UK equities outperform - up 3.5% and 2% respectively last month - on a combination of cheap valuations and improving sentiment. Economic data from Europe continued to surprise to the upside following the announcement from Germany that it would reform its "debt brake" and has committed to spending 500 billion to enhance its infrastructure and increase spending in defence.

Amid a backdrop where investors sought opportunities outside the U.S. and beyond richly valued, growth-focused equities, we once again saw value outperform growth with the MSCI World Value index up 1.3% last month compared to the return of the MSCI World Growth index which was down over 3%.

This benefited our position in the Schroder Global Sustainable Value Equity fund which was a positive contributor to performance, gaining 0.8%. The fund looks to invest in companies that are trading at a discount to their fundamentals and are making a net positive impact on society and the environment.

In Fixed Income, our allocation to US TIPS benefited from investor concerns over US growth last month. Within credit markets, whilst we had some moderate widening in spreads, all-in yields remain high and our allocation to Investment Grade corporate bonds were additive to performance. Our positions in the iShares Development Bank Bond and iShares Green Bond funds were up 1.2% and 1% respectively.

Within the allocation to Alternatives both holdings in the REITs and solar infrastructure funds had strong returns with Bluefield Solar Income fund up 8.7% and NextEnergy Solar Fund up 6.2% last month.
